Introduction

Alzheimer's Society is the leading care and research charity for people with dementia. The Society provides information and education, support for carers and quality day and home care. It funds medical and scientific research and campaigns for improved health and social services and public understanding of dementia.

The Society has a network of over 250 branches, support groups and carers contacts, which is developed and supported by a team of regional and area teams throughout England, Wales and Northern Ireland.

The Eastbourne Branch

The branch was founded in 1990. At present it provides the following services:

Occasional open-house debates on issues in respect of good practice or new developments in dementia care.

Committee members and the member of staff also attend local meetings to ensure good networking and to raise issues related to dementia care and local provision.

See Haven Club (A social day club for younger people with dementia)

Younger people with dementia have very different needs; they may have already had to face the loss of a daily social structure in terms of working life, and their previously held beliefs of what the future would hold for them.

The See Haven Club will aim to provide a person-centered approach, with staff and members being equals. The atmosphere will be friendly and welcoming, conducive for those attending to enjoy their interests, maintain social skills and participate in a variety of activities. Members may bring to the club any ideas, interests, preferences or activities that they would like to pursue. They may also choose to sit quietly, read, or participate in other activities, they are not required to “take part” in activities if they do not wish to. Staff are there to facilitate and support members when required. Possible activities will include local walks, outings and visits to Leisure Centres, bowling, cinema, the beach and anything else members would like to do. Members could also participate in art and craft activities and computing. Referrals will be via GP's, Psychiatrists, Neurologists and Community Mental Health Teams.

More information about the Alzheimer's Society and its work can be found on the Society's website: <http://www.alzheimers.org.uk>

To help you, please follow these guidelines.

1. Please complete all sections of the form.

4. Your last and present post allows you the opportunity to tell us about the work you are doing or have done in the past. Be as brief as you can, and use the personal statement at the back of the form to describe in more depth your skills, knowledge and experience relevant to the job.
5. Under the section 'Education, qualifications and training' you are asked to state your qualifications or name a course that you attended. We do not need a full account of your education since your junior school days. It is sufficient to state that you have a specific number of 'A' levels and GCSEs unless you are asked for a specific qualification on the person specification, such as GCSE English. You should mention qualifications or training relevant to the post you are applying for.
6. The personal statement is an important part of the application form and should be used to tell us how you meet the person specification. Always remember to specify your responsibilities rather than those of your section or department. Remember to explain how your current or previous experiences relate to the job you are applying for.

Do not attach any other documentation apart from the equal opportunity monitoring form. Any attachments, such as CVs, references or photocopies of your qualifications, will be disregarded and will not be seen by the selection panel.
