How it helps

£50 would enable researchers to use an innovative picture communication tool that helps people with advanced dementia to manage problems with eating and drinking.

£208 would fund one of our Side by Side services for a day. This one-to-one volunteer programme empowers people with dementia to keep on doing the things they enjoy.

£590 would fund our online community Talking Point for a weekend. This gives people dementia their own space to connect, share their stories and support each other.

£1,560 could fund one week of an Alzheimer's Society clinical fellowship, which allows clinicians and healthcare professionals to carry out research to improve care and treatment for people with dementia.

We hope you've recovered from your epic challenge now, and are feeling really proud of yourself for your fantastic achievement.

We've got a really easy way to boost your fundraising total, and make the double the difference to people affected by dementia. Just read on to find out how!

What is Matched Giving?

Matched Giving is when your employer matches the amount of fundraising you have raised for us. Your company will either match part or all of your fundraising, so you may be able to double your total!

What you need to do

First, find out if your workplace offers a matched giving scheme. If it does, use this form to request a matched donation. Just fill in the employee fundraising total section of the form, then give it to your employer to complete the employer details.

If you need us to fill in a separate form or send anything off, just get in touch by emailing challenge@alzheimers.org.uk and we'll get right to it.

Even if your workplace don't have a scheme, it's still worth asking your employer if they will make a donation towards your fundraising.

What we need your employer to do

We need your employer to complete and return this form so we can link their donation to your record.

Just ask them to complete the employer details section of the form, marking with an 'x' to show how they'd like to make their donation. Then return the form to us by email or post:

- If donating by BACS or another online platform scan your completed form and email the copy to us at challenge@alzheimers.org.uk.
- If donating by cheque post your cheque and completed form to:
Alzheimer's Society, Scott Lodge, Scott Road, Plymouth, PL2 3DU
